Berkeley — The Municipal Utilities Authority of Berkeley Township lifted its boil water advisory Saturday after new water tests determined the water is safe to drink.

Berkeley residents had been advised to boil tap water on Monday after E. coli bacteria was discovered in the town’s water supply.

The Municipal Utilities Authority advises residents to flush out water lines by running water for five minutes, emptying and cleaning automatic ice makers and water chillers, and draining and refilling hot water heaters if the temperature is set below 130 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Municipal Utilities Authority also recommends running a little water to con- tain with a water-soluble or car- tile filter through a regener- cy cycle or other cleaning methods recom- mended by the manufacturer.

For tail buildings, it recommends destroying and refilling the water reservoir.
